Susan Groenwald, BSN, MSN
Chamberlain College of Nursing National President

Susan Groenwald is the national president of Chamberlain College of Nursing. She began her career as a rehabilitation nurse after earning her nursing degree from the West Suburban School of Nursing in Oak Park, IL. After earning both a bachelor's and master's degree from the Rush University School of Nursing in Chicago, President Groenwald worked as a clinical nurse specialist and director of the Oncology Graduate Program at Rush University, and later served as the senior program director at the Illinois Cancer Council's Comprehensive Cancer Care Center.

She founded a commercial barter company that grew to more than 80 total employees in four locations, and was recognized as the National Businesswoman of the Year by the National Association of Women Business Owners in 1999 and with a Blue Chip Enterprise Award from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and Massachusetts Mutual. After selling the company to a venture capital group and working for them for several years, President Groenwald served as the director of operations for Focused Health Solutions, Inc., developing clinical programs and managing a team of nurses who provided disease management services for large self-insured employers. President Groenwald joined DeVry Inc. in January 2006, focusing on the transition and development of Chamberlain College of Nursing.

President Groenwald is the author of numerous articles and has edited five textbooks on cancer nursing, one of which – Cancer Nursing: Principles and Practice – won the American Journal of Nursing Book Award.
